

No agreement on forming Bosnia Council of Ministers - B92

The city of Mostar hosted a meeting on Monday of representatives of all of Bosnia's major political parties. The leaders discussed the formation of the Council of Ministers, as well as other issues including the disposition of state property and the national census law.

No progress was made toward the formation of a state-level government, though participants were encouraged by the level of dialogue on all issues. A series of multi- and bi-lateral meetings between party leaders will follow, leading up to another all-party meeting on September 15 in Sarajevo.
